

November 6 - November 12, 2008
Vol. 9, Issue 45

Weekly

Pappas hopes for win

...pg 3

SYVUHS Cross Country team

...pg 24

Halloween Valley Scene

...pg 10

THE SANTA YNEZ VALLEY

Valley JOURNAL

P.O. Box 524
Santa Ynez, California
93462

Our future leaders ... pg 3

November 6, 2008

BUSINESS BRIEFS

By SYVJ Staff

Email Article Respond To Article

Breakfast seminar for business

A free breakfast seminar will be hosted at the Buynak Law Firm branch in Solvang from 8 to 9 a.m. on Thursday, Nov. 13, at 433 Alisal Road, Suite C.

Joy Margolis, Esq. will make a presentation entitled, Piercing the Business Veil is Painful: Maintenance for Corporations and LLCs. The talk will focus on the annual maintenance requirements necessary to maintain corporate and limited liability company entities to avoid personal liability for business activities.

“It is extremely critical for business owners to insulate and separate themselves and their assets from business actions,” advises Margolis.

A complimentary continental breakfast of organic fruit, coffee, tea, juices and pastries will be served.

Space is limited to the first 20 guests to RSVP by calling (805) 688-8090 or e-mail RSVP@ BuynakLaw.com.

SCOTT TOPS UNDER 40

Shannon Scott, creator and owner of Shannon Scott Design in Los Olivos, was named one of the Top 40 Under 40 business people by the

Shannon Scott - Courtesy photo

Pacific Coast Business Times at a reception Oct. 13.

Scott is known not only for her keen eye for interior design but for her love of animals and music.

She brought Sedona recording artist Chris Spheeris to the valley last month for a special event at her Los Olivos studio and organized a concert at Kalyra Winery.

Scott also planned a meditation session at SolDance, donating a portion of the proceeds to the Santa Ynez Valley Humane Society, and she was one of the BOOM Festival sponsors, which promoted young artists and raised funds for the Charter School.

Scott has designed seven tri-county tasting rooms and just completed designing the interior of a 10,000-square-foot castle in Newfoundland, Canada.